Sterochef

First aid kits, plasters and dressings for the food and catering industry.

The law requires that food processors and anyone handling food must use blue dressings.

Sterochef blue, electro-magnetically detectable dressings are coated with a medical grade, high-tack adhesive, making them the most reliable brand on the market!

When applied to clean dry skin, they'll stay in place, preventing them from entering the food chain, which could have very serious consequences and be very costly if a batch recall was required.

Sterochef Catering Kits, compliant with BS8599-1, supplied in a blue polypropylene 'Premier' case, or a durable blue nylon bag.

Steroplast's British Standard catering first aid kits (branded Sterochef), compliant to BS8599-1 are all you need to achieve Health & Safety compliance and peace of mind.

Sterogrip in blue, specifically for the catering industry. Blue Sterogrip is the essential support bandage for anyone who has sustained an injury, but continuing to work in a food and catering environment.

Sterochef Strapping is a blue plastic adhesive tape for use during food preparation, to tape around items of jewellery, preventing them from accidentally dropping into the food.

Finger Stalls & Finger Cots are easy to use and ideal for use in the food and catering industry.

The blue fingerstall must be used in food handling environments to ensure food hygiene regulation compliance.
